Copyright in Ordnance Survey Maps

High hedges complaints

The Ordnance Survey copyright licence permits a local authority to copy Ordnance Survey maps solely for its own use. However, this local authority is participating in an Ordnance Survey scheme whereby copies of map extracts may be provided for private individuals, or their professional advisers, to include in their high hedges complaints only. A fee is payable per map extract or set of map extracts. Please note: Each copy will bear an acknowledgement to Ordnance Survey, and it is therefore an infringement of Crown copyright to make further copies of the map extracts without permission from Ordnance Survey.
